Quebec university system

Divided into three levels

- » Undergraduate studies last three to four years and lead to a bachelor's degree.
- » Graduate studies last two to three years and most often lead to a Master's degree.
- » Doctoral level studies require a minimum of four to five years and lead to a Ph.D.

For more information, visit the Web site of the Québec Ministry of Education : www.mels.gouv.qc.ca/GR-PUB/m_englis.htm.

Terms

- The academic year is divided into three terms :
 - » The Autumn term is from the beginning of September to the third week of December;
 - The Winter term is from the first week of January to the end of April;
 - The Summer term is from May to the end of June or to the end of August depending on the courses taken.

Length of studies

Most doctoral students register for three semesters per year, including the summer, although in most programs, there aren't any courses offered during this period. The Ph.D. coursework takes a minimum of six terms, at the end of which students begin to write their thesis.

List of Ph.D. programs

The Université de Montréal offers more than 70 programs at the doctoral level. Read more at :
